

This home is a fine example of a clever integration of contemporary design with a traditional Federation dwelling. The original cottage was carefully restored and a new two-storey living and bedroom pavillion was constructed behind, separated from the house by a courtyard and glass lined staircase. Main living areas open out to the rear garden and back to the sheltered courtyard. What was a small cottage is now a generous light filled family home.

PHOTOGRAPHER | CRAIG BRYANT

