

This project involved the complete refurbishment of the internal spaces of a large Federation house overlooking Mosman Bay. Walls were removed between the main living spaces, opening up the rooms and enabling the kitchen and family rooms to take advantage of the views.

The new fit-out was done in a modern contemporary style that contrasted with the key Federation features of the old house.

Photographer: Craig Bryant