

This two-storey dwelling was one of a group of 1930's heritage listed duplex apartment buildings that needed to be converted to a single standalone dwelling. The rear of the building was completely remodelled and a substantial covered entertaining deck added.

The interior colour scheme incorporates stained American Oak floors, white walls and joinery fabricated from painted white and pre-finished hazelnut panelling.

Photographer: Craig Bryant