

This challenging project involved the remodelling of a 1960's five-level waterfront home on a precipitous south facing site. The house was stripped back to its concrete framework and transformed into a striking contemporary home that engages with its context.

PHOTOGRAPHER | CRAIG BRYANT

