

This federation home required the removal of poorly considered additions in order to reach its potential. Once removed, a new large living space was created to link the garden. A second level was incorporated into the roof and provides study, master bedroom suite and balcony. Original rooms were refurbished, allowing the owners to enjoy a beautiful character filled home bathed in sunlight.

Photographer: Craig Bryant