

An original, single-level, red brick 1900's home, this home was originally earmarked for demolition with plans for a modern dwelling. After living here for some time, the owners realized there were many aspects of the original home they loved so our brief changed to a renovation and reconfigure of this home for modern living, retain original features, add bedrooms and emphasize the expansive water views.

A calm palette of whites & neutrals with a sharply contrasting dark slated gabled roof create an eye-catching 2-storey architectural design. This home is a stunning marriage between old and new, creating a calm & inviting beach abode fit for modern family living.

PHOTOGRAPHER | TOM FERGUSON

