

In a prominent position just one hundred metres from the Balmoral Esplanade, the Mandalong development entails the recreation of two character duplex buildings to create four luxury apartments. External materials and finishes draw reference to the neighbouring Bather's Pavilion and Balmoral Rotunda. The careful retention of the original character and the successful integration of the sympathetically designed additions has created a stylish and sophisticated boutique residential development.

Photographer: Craig Bryant