

This home was designed to fit comfortably within its surrounding context and maximise the views. Appearing as three storeys at the street front it steps up to become a single storey home at the rear. The main living area has a raked ceiling with exposed trusses whilst the base of the house is clad in sandstone.

The result is a modern interpretation of a traditional home.

PHOTOGRAPHER | CRAIG BRYANT

