

This classic contemporary three-story residence was designed for family living and entertaining. With five bedrooms, multiple living areas and a well equipped entertaining and wellness space the home is well suited to a growing family.

Grounded by stone cladding and rendered walls at the base, and elevated by aluminium cladding to the upper level, the home presents a striking street presence. Generous proportions, high ceilings, and a central courtyard bring abundant natural light into the main living areas, creating a seamless connection between indoors and out. Extensive home automation further enhances comfort and functionality, resulting in a sophisticated, modern dwelling that is equally suited to entertaining and private retreat.

PHOTOGRAPHER | TOM FERGUSON

